After analyzing industry trends over the past several months, it is clear that the economic downturn has impacted families considerably. In an effort to align ourselves with current demand in the marketplace Ascent Intervention will be partnering with Northwest Academy.

Ascent Intervention is expanding its value as a resource to families and other schools for students that have a need for short-term intervention, psychological assessment, and preparation for future placement. In addition, this service will provide families with an individualized, expedited and condensed wilderness experience. This strategy is in response to the many requests for a shorter wilderness intervention. We are excited about this creative service and our continued success.
