

Breaking News

King George School
Sutton, Vermont

King George Welcomes Beth Rowley

Contact:

Jerry Ramsey
Director of Human Resources
800-218-5122 ext. 103
jerry.ramsey@uhsinc.com
www.kinggeorgeschool.com

March 18, 2009

We are pleased to announce that Beth Rowley has joined the King George School as Director of Client Relations. Beth comes to us from the field of government health consulting and brings significant experience in the areas of communications, marketing and project management. For over 10 years, Beth has successfully developed and implemented statewide marketing and outreach campaigns designed to increase public awareness of federally-mandated programs.

When asked why she joined this School, Beth replied, "I am in awe of the significant work King George does with its students and their families. I am also convinced that this amazing school is one of the best kept secrets around. My sense is that Dr. David Hans and his team are humble people who seldom take the time to speak about their deep commitment and dedication to these young adults. I truly hope that I can be an effective spokesperson for the school so that prospective students and their families might more fully appreciate the people and the unique opportunities offered at the King George School."

Please join us in welcoming Beth Rowley to the King George community. We are confident that she will be an invaluable resource for families who are looking for a creative and nurturing therapeutic boarding school experience.

OUR COMMUNITY: The King George School is a private year-round therapeutic boarding school located on 300 acres in Vermont's pastoral Northeast Kingdom. The school embraces a unique approach to educating today's struggling teenagers. By integrating innovative clinical services, alternative educational approaches, and an infusion of visual and performing arts, our community is truly like no other. At King George School, students and families explore, grow, and thrive.

Our mission is to establish a model community that fosters creativity and the healthy expression of identity.

The King George School is a place where staff and students alike celebrate creativity and explore their passions. Our curriculum, small classes, and intimate learning environment are designed to rekindle the joy of learning and create an environment ideal for developing the talents of our students.

We embrace the philosophy that the arts are essential to the realization of a person's full potential. It is for this reason that the visual and performing arts are at the core of who we are as a school. We are seeking individuals who complement our team of committed, caring, and compassionate employees.

The King George School is owned and operated by a subsidiary of Universal Health Services, Inc., one of the nation's largest and most respected healthcare management companies. For more information, log onto www.uhsinc.com.