After much contemplation as Oliverian School approaches its sixth year and the desire to spend more time with his family, Barclay Mackinnon will be stepping into his new role at Oliverian School as Head Emeritus-Director of Alumni and Family Relations, effective July 1, 2009.

In this full time position, Barclay will work closely with Carl Lovejoy, Oliverian's new Director of External Affairs, and other members of the team to continue to provide the kind of experience the families and students have come to love and expect.

Since graduating from Colby 30 years ago, Carl Lovejoy has spent his entire professional career in independent schools, including St. Paul's School, Tabor Academy and the Cardigan Mountain School.

Carl was most recently the Director of Development at Kimball Union Academy.

Carl brings added depth to the admissions and resource development efforts, including many new relationships on which we will build. We look forward to working closely with Carl, Mike Doherty, Director of Admissions, and Erika Hoddinott, Assistant Director of Admissions, to increase enrollment and further develop the school.

With this announcement, Oliverian has launched the search for a new Headmaster, who will live on site and guide faculty and students in our quest for continuous improvement.

Barclay would like to thank the faculty, students, families and the Board of Trustees, as well as the evolving Advisory Committee, for all the support they have provided him and others in their quest, and is excited about Oliverian's future and proud of the collective accomplishments, as well as the opportunity to play a continued role in Oliverian's development.
