

Dear Friends:

It is with a heavy heart that we write to you today to share some sad news. We have recently made the decision to stop accepting student enrollments at Three Rivers Montana.

First and foremost, please be assured that all of us at Three Rivers remain fully committed to our current students and families, all of whom will complete the program next month, as scheduled. We will continue to provide the same level of quality care and exceptional service you've come to expect from Three Rivers for each and every student presently with us. Additionally, our staff is like family to us. We will continue to pay our staff and provide their health insurance benefits as they finish their work with Three Rivers.

We are very proud of what we've accomplished in the past five years. As many of you know, this is a personal passion for us. For this reason, it was extremely difficult for us to come to the realization that we cannot continue on with Three Rivers. As you are well aware, the current economic challenges are extensive and far-reaching and we have not been able to escape these challenges.

We've had the distinct privilege of meeting and working with so many compassionate people in the past five years. We are truly thankful for the support we have received in this industry and for the many friendships we've developed, for the healing that has been possible for families because of the collaborative work of so many caring individuals and for your faith and trust in us. It has truly been our pleasure to work with you and your families.

We wish you great success as you continue your vital work with young people and their families. Please do not hesitate to call if you have questions.

Respectfully,

Mark Parlett and Marylis Filipovich
